WASTE IN HIGHWAYS

HALF THE MONEY SPENT IN PUBLIC ROADS IS THROWN AWAY.

'GOOD ROADS.' UNIVERSAL CRY

Everybody Wants Something Done, but Nearly Every Community Is Crying in the Dark—Time to Face About and Try for Better Results.

By HOWARD H. GROSS.

No one who is familiar with the way road work has been handled for the last twenty years will dispute that half of the time and money expended upon our public roads by the bit and nail methods employed has been wasted. Most observers will say the waste is even greater. The country over, the outlay approximates $30,000,000. We have gone on from generation to generation pursuing this absurd plan, or rather lack of plan. It is a most unbusinesslike and reprehensible proceeding. No business enterprise could last a year with such a fearful waste. A calculation made with great care by one of the best authorities in the state, contends the direct waste on Illinois roads by doing prudent considerable engineering expenditure the farmer does not and is not expected to have. It is no secret that you can say he is not a general road builder—any more than it would be to question his ability in carpentry. To have the best road possible the township or road district is too small a unit. The village is too limited to make it practical to have an experienced road builder in charge. Hence the present thought is that the county should be the road district, or perhaps there might be two districts in large counties. The road supervisor or should be a capable, experienced engineer employed by the year, or the season. Let him get the necessary roads, men and teams to do the work when it ought to be done. When grading is necessary, the earlier in the spring it is done the better. The surface ought not to be disturbed after the first of July.

The first and most important step is road drainage. No drain, no road. It is exceedingly important to have one in charge who knows his business. As road drainage will be treated at length in another article, the writer will not elaborate upon it at this time. The drains can be laid at any season when the frost is out of the ground. Cutters can be built, the roads dragged, weeds cut, etc. This will give work from early spring until fall.

With the county as a unit, plan a five-year campaign of grading and drainage, beginning with the main roads and extending the work in the Country School House on Bad Road, Near Conklin, Tenn.

It would be hard to find a greater contrast than the two pictures in this article show. They are only a few miles apart. In one there is an air of brightness, while in the other there is evidence of thrift, progress and refinement. Can any one doubt which is the better school or which community gets the most out of life.

the wrong thing, or if perchance doing the right thing, then doing it at the wrong time, causes a loss of $10,000 per day!

In no department of administration have we more signally failed than in dealing with the question of the highways. It is time to face about and make an effort to get better results. Is it any wonder people are "gone" when it comes to paying road taxes? They have been at it for generations and with here and there an exception, the roads are no better than they were to begin with.

The question now is what specific things shall be done in order to get better results. The first step in the writer's opinion is to wipe out the labor system of "working out" the tax by the annual picnic or talkfest, that usually takes place in the early fall when everybody turns out to "improve" the road. There is no definite plan; the practice is to plow and scrape, and fill the center of the road with sod, weeds, brush and earth, making what before was a passable road one that is impassable. The lessons of the season prevent a proper settlement before the heavy fall rains and the winter sets in. The weeds, sod and brush are sure to make trouble for a year or more. Many a time the writer has observed a bunch of men and teams do a hundred dollars' worth of damage to work out a fifty-order of importance. In a county of ten to fifteen townships, one good engineer with three or four gangs of men with machinery, each having a good foreman, in three or four years will make such a showing, that people will wonder they ever tolerated the old hit and miss methods.

If the method suggested was adopted and followed, it would at least double the results for the taxes now paid. By having regular employment, both the men and horses would become proficient and do more in a day than the "greenhorn" would do in two days, and the work will be far better done as well.

The above outline is for the treatment of earth roads. When the time comes, and come it will, when the main roads will have to have a hard, smooth wearing surface of stone, gravel or brick, all of the work previously done as above set forth, will be valuable as a preparation for the permanent road.

The inauguration of such a plan will appeal to the people; they will see they are getting something for the money paid. Their attitude will change from one of hostility to friendly co-operation, and this is of much importance. The writer once saw an enterprising farmer who had a road drag. He took it out in a rain storm and dragged a mile of road, going twice over it until it was in his lane.

Cedar Grove School House, Near Knoxville, Tenn.

ollar road tax. The stories told, the antics of wrestling, jumping and other athletic diversions, making it a holiday enjoyed by every one.

There is but one thing to do: Collect all the road taxes in cash and pay to have the work done under the best supervision obtainable.

This working out the road tax dates back before the war, when there was very little money in circulation, and it was next to impossible for the people to pay the tax in any other way. It is different now. The labor system has outlived its usefulness and should go.

Road building, even if a dirt road, runs as smooth as a ribbon. No sooner had he turned in under cover than he saw a neighbor with two teams coming down over the road, undoing all he had done. The content smile would not look well in print. If the party in question had any appreciation of the fitness of things, he would have driven along the side of the road, and left the dragged surface so it would shed water and dry smooth. A five-dollar fine with costs would have been a good lesson.

The sentiment is everywhere for better highways. "Good Roads" is the universal cry—everybody wants something done, but nearly every commu-

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1911.

Entered at the Greenville, Ky., postoffice as second-class matter.

The honesty of New York was disclosed by the fact that when a citizen found a $10 bill on the street he gave it to a policeman to be restored to the owner, and the enterpriser of the city was exhibited by the fact that as soon as the story was known nearly half the population put in a claim for the money.

JOHN MARSHALL HARLAN, the oldest member of the Supreme Court of the United States, died at his home in Washington City last Saturday, after an illness of less than a week from bronchitis. He had served on the bench for almost 34 years, and only two men had served longer, and that by only a few months. Judge Harlan was a native Kentuckian, being born in Boyle county, and was one of our most distinguished sons. He was a bright man, earnest and honest, and his career on the bench was one of which any man might be proud. He was a Christian gentleman of the highest and best type, and it was often said of him "he keeps the Bible in one hand and the constitution in the other."

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

A short service of about half an hour will be held on Sunday afternoon, in the interest of Bible study. Mr. W. G. Duncan will give a short talk on "The Importance of Bible Study." Mr. T. O. Jones will speak briefly on "The Benefits of Systematic Bible Study."

The Association has planned to conduct three systematic Bible classes this season. If you have never been in one of these classes you should be present at this meeting and hear the plan presented. There will be a class for seniors taught by Mr. T. N. Belcher. Their theme will be "The Social Teachings of Jesus." This is an up to date course and is very interesting and instructive. Also a class for the Intermediate and High School Boys, taught by Mr. C. W. Taylor, and will study the course "Life Questions." This is one of the most important courses which the committee has mapped out for our use.

The Junior class will be taught by Secretary Anderson and the course will be announced on Sunday afternoon. This is the "Little Fellows" class and we are often overlooked, but when the season is over and the pennant is awarded to the best class in attendance, etc., we expect to be among the foremost.

These classes are not for Y. M. C. A. members only, but every man and boy in Greenville and vicinity is invited to enter the class into which he belongs. Be sure to attend the meeting Sunday afternoon whether you expect to enter a class or not. Of course you will want to get in the class to which you belong and help them win the pennant. All men and boys are very earnestly invited and requested to be present on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Our readers should not overlook the article by Rondo in this issue. It is one of the most interesting things he has written in some time.

Judge O'Rear spoke to a large crowd here last Thursday afternoon in his interest as candidate for Governor, and for the remainder of the Republican ticket. This was his first appearance in the county in a public address, and the first time that most of his listeners had heard him. He is a clear, logical talker and thinker, and his talk impressed the people with his earnestness and honesty, and he made friends here. He is not an orator, and makes no pretense of effort in that direction, but he leaves a lasting impression on those who hear him.

THE ALLISON FAMILY

Pioneers and Factors in Muhlenberg's History

Some weeks ago Young E. Allison, of Louisville, who is an associate editor of the Insurance Field, a trade journal of prominence, was in Greenville on a visit to relatives. Mr. Allison is a son of Young E. Allison Sr., who was born and reared in Muhlenberg county.

Samuel Allison, the father of Young E. Allison Sr., was born in Ireland and came, with his parents, to this country and located in North Carolina. In after years he came to Tennessee and there married Margaret Dixon, and in 1801 they came to Muhlenberg county and located about four miles southwest of Greenville, near where the Friendship church now stands. At this place Samuel Allison and his wife lived, died and were buried. Samuel Allison died in 1827, his wife in 1834. To Samuel and Margaret Dixon Allison were born and reared five sons and one daughter.

Charles M., the oldest son, born 1796; died 1815. William Dixon, the second son, born 1798; died 1862. Young E., the third son, born 1801; died 1874. John A., the fourth son, born 1803; died 1875. Samuel H., the fifth son; born 1805; date of death unknown to writer.

Nancy R., born 1810; died 1861. Samuel Allison Sr. was said to be a man of rare wit and humor. It is said that in the last years of his life he had a spell of sickness during which, at one time he was thought to be dying. His friends gathered around him and while some of them were tending down watching him, he made a sudden loud puff at them which at once dispelled their grief. John A. Allison, a son of Samuel Allison, lived and died in Muhlenberg county. He was married in 1825 to Fanny Watkins, who was born in 1803 and died in 1887. She was a daughter of James Watkins, of English descent. They settled about two and one half miles west of Greenville, where they lived and died. They were buried at the old Liberty church burying ground.

To John A. and Fanny Watkins Allison were born and reared four sons and one daughter. James W., the oldest son, was born in 1826 and died in 1870. In 1849 he married Laura A. Martin, a daughter of Hinton Martin. They remained in Muhlenberg county until 1855 when they moved to Missouri, where James Allison and several of his children died, after which his wife came back to Kentucky, where she now survives in Greenville at the age of eighty-five. She brought back with her two children, a son, B. F. Allison, now residing in Oakland, California, a daughter, Annie, who afterwards married and in a short time died in 1890.

Finis M., the second son of John Allison, was born in 1829 and died in Greenville, Ky. in 1864. When young he was made a deputy clerk under Charles F. Wing and served several years. He also studied law. In 1852 he went to California and in 1854 returned to Kentucky and located at Morgantown, Butler county, where he was elected Circuit and County clerk, which offices he held for several years. In 1865 he came to Greenville and commenced the practice of law. In 1867 he was elected to the State Senate, afterwards was appointed Tobacco Inspector and then appointed United States Commissioner, afterwards practiced law until his death. He was married in 1849 to Julia A. Barks, a daughter of Foster James, of Butler county; she died during the year 1900; to them were born and reared six children, three sons and three daughters, Finis, John and James; Lucy, Alice and Naomi. Finis became a doctor and preacher and died in the western part of the state. John was a prominent lawyer and practiced law in Greenville, where he died in 1903. James went to Chicago, where he died in 1898. Lucy married Joseph Frazier and went to Texas. Two daughters are now living in Greenville, Mrs. Alice Stokes and Mrs. Naomi Lovell.

Samuel H., the third son of John Allison, born 1832, left the state in early manhood and died in Wisconsin in 1855. William, the fourth son of John Allison, born 1839, died at Hopkinsville, Ky. in 1875. Annie L., daughter of John Allison, born in 1835, married Britton Davis in 1859 and died in 1886; to them were born five children, three of whom died in early life. Two daughters survive in the county, Mrs. Belle Duvall and Mrs. Pearl Elkins.

John A. Allison was a good citizen, of moral habits, and a man of good sense and information. He was of jovial temperament; it seemed to do him great good to get a crowd of people around him and tell anecdotes and jokes. He was full of wit and of quick discernment; he was rather timid and bashful man. We have heard him say that he always disliked to approach a crowd of people, that his hands seemed to be greatly in his way and he did not know what to do with them. Samuel Allison Sr. settled in a neighborhood with other pioneer settlers who raised families that grew up with the Allisons. These families were that of Henry Black, Jerry Langley, Matthew Rice, Kenard Hay and Richard Reynolds all of whom were good men. The young men that grew up in the same neighborhood with the Allison boys were Wiley, Kincheon and Charles Hay, Henry, Felix and Nathan Black, John, Thomas and George Reynolds, William, Wesley and Sylvanus Langley, Reson, William and Claiborne Rice; all these sons of pioneers became prominent men. Out of the sixteen mentioned ten became professional men. There is no other neighborhood in the county that has produced a better set of men than were produced in the Sam Allison neighborhood. The Black boys grew up and left the county. Felix Black became a prominent Methodist preacher and located in Cincinnati. Henry Black became a Cumberland Presbyterian preacher and located in Illinois. Nathan became a lawyer of distinction and located in western Kentucky. Wesley and Sylvanus Langley went south. William remained in the county. John Reynolds located at Hopkinsville, Ky. Thomas became a Methodist preacher and located in Louisiana. George went to Illinois. Wiley Hay remained in the county and became a prominent man. Kincheon became a Baptist preacher and located in Illinois. Charles became a Cumberland Presbyterian preacher and located in the western part of Kentucky. Dixon, Young and Samuel Allison located in Henderson county, Ky., where Dixon became the Circuit clerk and Young the County clerk, which offices they held for many years. They all raised families, the history of whom we are not informed.

Reson Rice, who married Louise Black, remained in the county and settled near the old Black homestead. He was a man of fine sense and information but he had an awkward appearance and movement, and in a common way was not a glib talker. Upon one occasion he had a lawsuit of some interest and acted as his own attorney in the case, having studied law some but had never practiced; and when he assumed his case the judge and lawyers seemed to be amused as if they expected some fun, as Rice was a little slow in getting off. But as the case proceeded Rice began to handle it with considerable skill, and when he made his speech he straightened up and with the fire of his unexpected eloquence astonished the whole outfit and won his case. He was afterwards regarded as a man of ability. In the conclusion of this article we shall add that all these sons of pioneers mentioned would gather at the old log school house in the neighborhood of Samuel Allison, where they learned their first lessons from Kenard Hay, a school teacher. The school house was also used for religious worship, and was called Hickory Withe, and there they would carry on debating societies every year and by practice some of them became good speakers and in after years became distinguished as speakers. These sons of the pioneer families of the Samuel Allison neighborhood have long since disappeared from the walks of life. After the death of Samuel Allison and his wife, the old homestead passed into the hands of John Staples who reared a large family on it, where he built a horse mill which was run for years. At this old horse mill John A. Allison, Reson Rice and John Staples would often meet and discuss history, religion and politics; they were all well posted in such matters. After the Staples family had abandoned the Allison homestead it passed into different hands and is now owned by one William McWirtter. Rondo.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts. He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh. It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Hon. A. O. Stanley, of Henderson, addressed Muhlenberg voters here at 2 o'clock last Friday afternoon, and while the crowd was disappointingly small, as farmers are very busy these days, the Congressman aroused a considerable amount of enthusiasm, and was frequently interrupted by outbursts of applause. He discussed State and made enthusiastic predictions of Democratic victories all along the line. There are few more popular politicians here than Mr. Stanley.

Fire at Central City.

Fire discovered at 3 o'clock Monday morning at Central City destroyed two frame buildings and contents and did several thousand dollars damage, all well covered by insurance. The fire is thought to have started in the grocery store of Henry Kittinger, who lives above the store. He succeeded in saving some of his household goods and a small amount of stock, as did J. R. Carr, who conducted a grocery next door. The Cumberland Telephone exchange was up stairs over Carr's, and this was a total loss. The origin of the fire is unknown, as there had been no fire about the building. The loss of the exchange worked a great hardship on Central City and the surrounding territory, as communication was entirely cut off: the company made every effort to hasten restoration, and a new board was received by express Tuesday, the connections being made by a force of men, and by the first of the week it is hoped normal conditions will exist. A location was secured in the Gish bank building, on the second floor, and much better quarters are now occupied. Central City's fire department did great work, and the frames of the wooden buildings were left standing.

Woman Socialist Speaks.

Mrs. O'Hara, editor of the Rip-Saw, a Socialist paper published in St. Louis, was here Monday, and spoke in the afternoon and evening at the court house. She drew the largest number of people to town that have greeted a speaker this fall, and her talks were full of thought-provoking facts. Her manner of solution lacked somewhat in clearness, but her contentions of corruption were clear-cut and unmistakable, and she left no doubt in the minds of her listeners that political, commercial and social conditions were such as to warrant the greatest anxiety, and an effort to put things to rights. The Socialist party has developed wonderful strength in the past few years, and its growth here has kept up with other sections. The leaders here claim that 500 votes will be cast at this election for the Socialist candidates, and everyone concedes that unless there is a deflection this will not be far from the number.

Glasgow will have no more county fairs, it is announced. This was the oldest fair in the state, and had not missed an exhibition for almost half a century, but it is gone the way that all such enterprises are drifting. People do not patronize such amusements anywhere any more to an extent that makes them profitable. Now that we have a State Fair, this has proven the last straw, and the smaller shows have been neglected almost altogether.

New Cypress Church Dedicated Sunday.

The dedication of the New Cypress church, on the Madisonville road, near Isbell's, last Sunday, drew an audience of at least 1,000 persons, and the day was one of interest to everyone who attended. Dr. Powell, of Louisville, delivered the dedicatory address, and it was done in a forceful manner, and was full of convincing thought. He was known personally to most of those in attendance, as he has been here on many similar occasions, and has doubtless dedicated more churches than any other man in Kentucky, almost every Sunday being devoted to this work. After the sermon he directed the raising of the $600 necessary to clear the church of debt, and this was done in record time, with some dollars to spare. Then Rev. W. H. Woodson delivered the dedicatory prayer, and after the pastor, Rev. Herndon, had made a short talk thanking the people for their liberality, everyone present was asked to the grove and partake of the free dinner which had been provided by the members and neighborhood friends. This was a bountiful and delightful affair, with all sorts of delicacies and substantial, and while the consumption was sufficient to have delighted the heart of every cook, there was enough left to have fed one or two more crowds of like proportions. The building dedicated is an attractive, commodious one, and is a credit to the members and to the community. There are only about fifty members, and it is to their credit that they undertook and successfully carried out the providing of such a house of worship. It will serve quite a territory, and the membership will undoubtedly increase at a gratifying rate.

Marriages are becoming more numerous.

Friday, Oct. 27 has been set apart as Arbor Day in Kentucky, and everyone is urged to plant at least one tree that day. Governor Willson has issued a proclamation, and the State Superintendent of Schools is strongly recommending that the pupils in every school become interested, and plant trees that day. Kentucky is further behind in this respect than in many other important matters that should receive our attention, and the preservation and extension of our forests is a serious item that should not be longer neglected.

Good Roads Must Be Built—
The Other Kind Grow Rampant

It costs money to build GOOD ROADS—but it costs much more MONEY, TIME, LABOR, EQUIPMENT, INVESTMENT in Horses, Harness, Vehicles, etc. to be hampered by BAD ROADS. What will YOU Do?

Our Platform.

We, the nominees on the Citizens' Ticket for Councilmen for Greenville, adopt the following platform:

1. While we are justly proud of the progress and development of our little city, we expect greater things for Greenville. We are in sympathy with every movement having for its object the upbuilding of the town, and, to that end, we shall encourage every worthy public enterprise, administer the affairs of the city fairly and economically, and do everything within our power to improve and extend the streets and sidewalks and all other public improvements.
2. We realize that water and light are indispensable to the safety, health and convenience of the citizens of the town, but we favor the reduction of the present water and light rates, so that more money may be available for other necessary improvements. We further favor an extension of the water mains so as to bring water for domestic purposes and fire protection to as nearly the whole town as practicable, and that each citizen may have the same at reasonable rates and upon equal terms.
3. We are not being run by, and are not running in, the interest of any person seeking appointment or election to any office at the hands of the Council. We will not make any pre-election promises to any candidate for such office, but will give every applicant therefor due consideration after we are inducted into office, and will follow the Statutes and the dictates of our better judgments in the selection of such officials.
